Our Mission:

"The Campbell House Museum enlivens the history of St. Louis and Westward Expansion through the story of the Campbell family and their home."

As one of the most historically significant Nineteenth Century buildings in St. Louis, we work hard to preserve our National Register-listed buildings and important collection of original furnishings, family possessions, photographs and archival material, serving as a center for education and community outreach programming.

How does my contribution support the Campbell House?

As a small 501(c)3 nonprofit foundation, the Campbell House Foundation receives no government funding of any kind. Every single aspect of our operations is funded by the generous contributions of community-minded individuals like you. Membership dues and gifts help support our mission of historic preservation and community outreach, fund educational programs and curriculum, and help us keep the lights on so that CHM can continue to operate as one of America's premier historic property museums.

Are my contributions tax-deductible?

Yes, your contribution to the Campbell House Foundation is tax-deductible. However, federal law requires that you deduct the “fair market value” of any benefits you receive from the Museum in return for membership dues. One-time operating donations are fully deductible and the thank-you letter you receive for both types of contributions serves as your receipt. Always consult your tax professional regarding tax implications of your gift.

Does Campbell House sell or exchange its members’ names with other organizations?

Campbell House does not sell or exchange its mailing list with any commercial entities. We do, however, occasionally exchange our list with other non-profit organizations. If you would like your name to be excluded, please call, write, or email us with your preference.

I’ve moved! How can I change the contact information that’s on file for my membership?

Any time you switch your email address, move, or change phone numbers just give us a call here at the Museum (314.421.0325) or send us an email at info@campbellhousemuseum.org.
